The process of education is a process of cooperation organized between the teacher and students and directed towards a specific goal. Therefore, the development of a person as a person, the level of his habits, behavior, worldview, and the formation of the emotions of his mind are formed in the process of education. Finding a person's place in society, direction of feelings, experiences, growth depends on education. Self-education is an internal activity aimed at creating, improving and eliminating negative qualities of a person that have social value.

All kinds of vices and adverse situations in human life are caused by mistakes in upbringing.

Such "deviations" will not occur if education is properly directed from childhood. Formation of a person who meets the requirements of society and social life is the content of education. Along with demands, respecting other people, listening to other people's opinions, being humane and learning, striving for knowledge are important principles of education. Also, one of the important elements of education is faith, views on life, self-awareness, broad thinking, evaluation of oneself and other people's thoughts, ideas, and views. Working with a team, increasing the feeling of respect for others, forming a sense of cooperation in a person is also created on the basis of education. These principles of education are at the basis of our ideas that emerge, our views on the world and existence. Education is one of the main concepts of pedagogy. In pedagogy, education is distinguished in two ways: education in a broad sense and education in a narrow sense. That is, education directed to the individual's response to society's requirements and the development of the individual as a result of the influence of society.

Education in the narrow sense is a specially organized activity of the pedagogue and students to realize the educational goal in the conditions of the pedagogical process. In this case, education is organized for the purpose of learning a certain education and the activity process of the pedagogue and the student is understood. From this it is known that the purpose of education is to form a perfect, knowledgeable, mature and complete person for the society. The general tasks of education are: to create conditions for goal-oriented development of society members and to satisfy their various needs; preparation of a sufficient amount of "human capital" suitable for the social culture necessary for the development of the society; ensuring the stability of social life by passing on cultures; regulating the movement of members of society within the framework of social relations, taking into account the interests of certain gender, age and social professional groups. Education is an ancient concept that will not disappear forever for our people. Emotions and concepts such as morals, education, manners, upbringing are values that are ingrained in our blood. Since ancient times, they have paid serious attention to the field of education, school and education. These conflicts are expressed in the works of our great writers Alisher Navoi, Behbudi, Abdulla Avloni, Abdurahman Jami, Abu Ali Don Sina. Amation Sinham if we can learn how rich our nations culture is! will be One of the enlighteners, Abdulla Avloni, conducts a number of activities related to education and training, opening a school, educating the youth of PEMBAN to be knowledgeable and spiritual. Macam 20 botagt writes many of his works in the form of advice, encouraging people to receive education and training, explaining the meaning and essence of education, knowledge and education. In particular, the ideas he expressed about education have not lost their importance even today, but they have preserved the skills that are necessary for us.

Avloni's pedagogic views contributed immeasurably to the foundation of today's schools. The works of the enlightened writer singing about our national values are a priceless treasure of Uzbek literature. In these works, the concepts of national spirit and knowledge and enlightenment are put forward. In their time, these works not only broadened the scope of thinking of young people, but also served to increase their love for labor, books, school, and the Motherland. In the poems of the poet, the concepts of school, education, science and science are glorified. That is, only a knowledgeable and enlightened person becomes a person who will benefit the society.
